

DOMINIQUE GAGNIER

As a long-time safety professional and committed steward of the natural environment, I bring a unique perspective as a U.S.-based property owner with strong ties to both coastal communities and the island of Eleuthera. Originally from Rochester, New York, I spent much of my youth in Ocean City, Maryland and the Florida Keys, developing a lifelong connection to the outdoors. Since relocating to Florida in 2012, I have embraced a lifestyle centered around conservation and community. I now reside on Anna Maria Island, where I enjoy fishing and exploring the Gulf Coast's natural beauty. Professionally, I have served for more than two decades as a Field Safety Professional with Grainger, specializing in risk management, regulatory compliance, and operational safety. This work has equipped me with a strong sense of responsibility, attention to detail, and collaborative problem-solving skills — qualities I believe are essential to effective board service. My family and I have developed a deep affection for the Bahamas, which inspired us to purchase property in Rainbow Bay. I am committed to supporting both the long-term well-being of the community and the protection of its natural environment. I believe my background, combined with my U.S. perspective, would allow me to contribute positively to the RBPOA's mission and initiatives. I would be honored to be considered for a board position and welcome the opportunity to discuss how I can best serve the association and its members.
